CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

IN MONTHLY MEETING CONSIDER QUESTIONS SUGGESTED BY PRESIDENT

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held in the Chamber of Commerce room, 1011 West Broadway, Friday evening, December 10. J. W. Usilton, president of the chamber, presided, R. M. Jackson serving as secretary.

After the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting, the secretary read the following address, which had been prepared by President Usilton.

To the Chamber of Commerce.
Gentlemen:

An interchange of service between the Home and Sunset telephone companies seems desirable. It is understood that Pasadena, Alhambra and other cities have succeeded in obtaining this concession. There may be stipulations in connection with this service that would render it undesirable, but it should be looked after carefully so as to clearly ascertain its advantages and disadvantages.

Your committee on local industries, of which H. P. Coker is chairman, have made a clear report on the Wood Manufacturing company at a special meeting. Should they go ahead and endeavor to locate that company here every aid and encouragement should be extended by the entire citizenship of Glendale.

At your Friday night meeting in January officers are to be selected and this should be given serious consideration. A Chamber of Commerce or similar body is a necessity in every city. The restroom, lately started by this organization, should be kept up as a matter of public convenience and to accomplish this means of financing it will have to be considered. It is not fair that a handful of citizens should be compelled to bear the expense when it is a benefit to the entire city and some means should be devised to interest a larger body of citizens in the enterprises of the chamber and make it the success it should be. It is all well enough to say, "We would like to be present and assist in doing things the city needs, but we haven't the time." This is a lame excuse and betrays a lack of interest instead of a lack of time.

The committee on booklet has faithfully performed its work and Prof. A. M. Brooks, J. C. Shear, J. F. Lilly and associates should be thanked by this chamber for their highly creditable production, which will be of great benefit.

A member of your executive board and one of Glendale's most useful citizens, Mr. M. P. Harrison, in a letter recently asked that his resignation from the board be accepted, giving as the reason inability to attend to the duties of the position because of poor health. I suggest that his resignation be declined by the chamber and he be notified of the action conveying our thanks for his past services and hoping that he may soon regain his health.

An extract from an article of Phillip Brooks, noted writer, seems applicable to our citizenship and I make no apologies for offering it: "The universal blunder of this world is in thinking that there are certain persons put into the world to govern and certain others to obey. Everybody is in this world to govern and everybody to obey. There are no benefactors and no beneficiaries in distinct classes. Every man is at once both benefactor and beneficiary. Every good deed you do, you ought to thank your fellow man for giving you an opportunity to do it; and they ought to be thankful to you for doing it."

The various suggestions made in the president's address were taken up for consideration. The first one, concerning an interchange of service between the Home and Sunset companies, was discussed at length, but no definite action was taken on this question. Suggestion number 2 concerning the Wood Manufacturing company, was reported as being in the hands of the committee of which Mr. Coker is chairman. On account of Mr. Coker's absence no definite report was given. In reference to the third suggestion all members present agreed that a live interest should be taken in the election of officers at the annual city election, which occurs the latter part of January. The members concurred in the suggestion made by the president that a vote of thanks be tendered the committee who rendered such valuable service in preparing the publicity booklet for the chamber. Copies of this booklet may be secured at the secretary's office, 1011 West Broadway.

Members also supported the suggestion of the chair that the resignation of M. P. Harrison, member of the Board of Directors, be not accepted, and a motion prevailed that the

FLOWERS FOR CITY

MRS. NANNO WOODS SUGGESTS THAT EVERY STORE AND OFFICE START WINDOW BOXES

Editor Glendale Evening News: In most towns and villages on the Rhine, ivy geraniums are grown in window boxes to such an extent that the streets are a veritable blaze of glory.

In Glendale, where we have climate unexcelled, sunshine galore, not a merchant, not a hotelkeeper, not a single real estate man can boast of a window box riotous with color or restful with trailing green.

What an advertisement it would prove were strangers driving along Brand boulevard to be greeted by the beauty of pink or crimson ivy geranium blossoms, smiling a friendly welcome from the windows of the First National Bank, from the windows of the Elks' headquarters across the street, from the Masonic Hall lower down.

It costs very little to have window boxes made; the carpentry work can be done by a schoolboy. It costs even less to procure the plants. In fact, the expense is so little that every store and office would quickly follow suit if the fashion were only set by a few enterprising firms.

The Glendale City Hall, of which we are so justly proud, would make an ideal place for window boxes filled with ivy geraniums and sprengerii. Why should our City Hall be behind European City Halls? Even if Manager Watson himself had to water every window box once a week, it would do him no harm, and would do the city much good.

The engine house on Broadway is glorified by a window box filled with ivy geranium and trailing green. Judge Miller made that box and set it up some two years ago. Is he the only man in Glendale with sufficient initiative to do something along that line?

Water is cheap in Glendale. Ivy geraniums are the hardiest of plants, and the prettiest. They bloom at least 9 months in the year, and are green all the year round. What's the matter with trying the experiment?

Glendale ought to be the most beautiful suburban city in California. Is it? Glendale should lead in matters of civic beauty. Does it? Glendale can afford to spend as much money on its business stores, offices and buildings as do the little European towns. Will it?

MRS. NANNO WOODS,
President Glendale Garden Society.

EGG GUESSING CONTEST

At the instance of the Poultrymen's Co-operative Association of Los Angeles, a prize competition for the guessing of the number of eggs in a basket, which was on view in the rooms of the poultry show, was inaugurated. Throughout the show visitors were invited to make their guesses with the result that a large number of people sent in estimates of the number of eggs in the basket. The contest was managed by the local representative of the Poultrymen's Association. E. E. Emerson of Burbank won first prize with a guess of 139. Mrs. G. F. Taylor, 883 S. Louise street, won second prize with a similar guess of 139 and Marjorie Imler, 310 Park avenue, Tropico, was third, also with a guess of 139. Mr. J. W. Usilton, with a guess of 275, won the booby prize.

The first prize was a 90-pound sack of Co-operative dry mash, given by the Poultrymen's Co-operative Association. The second prize was a 50-cent package of Pratt's regulator, given by the Glendale Feed & Fuel Co. The third prize was a package of Poultrymen's Co-operative Association Lice Powder, given by the Tropico Fuel & Feed company. The booby prize was a complimentary ticket to the Los Angeles Poultry Show, Jan. 5-10.

FIGHTING THE FLAMES

FIRE CHIEF LANKFORD TELLS HOW NEIGHBORING CITIES GUARD AGAINST FIRE

In view of the fact that Glendale will shortly be called on to vote on bonds for the purpose of providing additional means of fire protection for the city, it may be well to look at what some of Glendale's neighbors are doing in this direction. In accordance with the desire of the city officials to know how Glendale compares with other cities in Southern California in this respect Fire Chief Lankford took a trip to Glendora. He found there a city of 1500 population, with a new pumping engine recently bought at San Francisco.

"This piece of equipment," said the chief, "is an American La France Junior, 250-gallon pump, chemical and hose combination. It is also accompanied by 200 feet of half-inch hose and 200 feet of 2½-inch hose. This outfit was on exhibition at the San Francisco exposition. The city of Glendora paid $6000 for the complete apparatus and hose. The average gravity water pressure is between 70 and 80 pounds.

"I also visited Claremont, where there is a chemical and hose apparatus combination. The average water pressure there is 115 pounds. Claremont is a city of 1500 population.

"Lordsburg, which is a city of 1100 population, hitherto has been without adequate protection, but has now ordered an American La France combination hose pump and chemical apparatus.

"Pomona is a city of 16,000 population. It has five pieces of apparatus. That is one piece of apparatus for each 3200 population. The city's equipment at present is one American La France 750-gallon pump and hose combination; one 40-horsepower, Morland chemical and ladder combination. There is also one horse-drawn ladder wagon in reserve, and one horse-drawn chemical wagon in reserve. The gravity pressure is 70 pounds.

"Frank L. Hilton, fire chief of Alhambra, reports that the city of Alhambra has 8866 population. To protect this community there are four pieces of apparatus. This includes one 750-gallon Boyd hose combination pump; one chemical and ladder combination in one station. There are also two other stations with one chemical and hose combination in each. The city has in use 4500 feet of 2½-inch fire hose. There is also a fire alarm system that cost $3500.

"Chief Hilton of Alhambra also states that the city sanctioned an issue of $35,000 fire bonds and that the first year after the new equipment had been purchased and installed the citizens of Alhambra paid $9000 less insurance the first year. My investigations show that the cities of Southern California are fully alive to the importance of fire equipment, and are making every effort to put themselves in a position to be able to handle effectively any fire, to save property and prevent such a disaster as that which recently almost swept Avalon, the city of Santa Catalina, off the map."

CENTRAL AVENUE SCHOOL P. T. A.

Mrs. J. W. West, president of the Central avenue school Parent-Teacher association, presided at the meeting on Friday in a most charming manner.

The principal speaker for the afternoon was superintendant of city schools, Mr. Richardson D. White, who gave a wonderfully interesting address, "Present Day Schools and Those of Years Past."

Mrs. Gerson Beatus, prominent in Los Angeles musical circles, was to have given musical numbers, but the unforseen happening, could not appear. Miss McIntyre, principal of the school, had to arrange an impromptu program, selecting talent from among the school pupils. Those contributing were Miss Lucile Dunn, whose work is brilliant for so youthful a performer. Violin solos by Miss Regina Townsend were played with much expression, her instructor, Mr. Julius Kranz, accompanying on the piano. Piano numbers by Bert Coughran were well received and his promises to be a musical career of worth.

Mr. M. W. Van Tassel arrived here Sunday, on a visit to his mother, Mrs. M. C. Gibbs, 336 Cedar street. Mr. Van Tassel has been residing in New York for some time, where he has been in business. Latterly his health broke down and he is now studying for the Methodist ministry. Mr. Van Tassel has a brother in Los Angeles and another, Bertram Van Tassel, who is a nurse in the Glendale Sanitarium. Mr. Van Tassel thinks the climate of Glendale will greatly benefit his health.

PERMITS UP TO DATE

BUILDING FOR DECEMBER SHOWS SLIGHT INCREASE OVER SAME PERIOD LAST YEAR

"There is without doubt a certain improvement in the whole economic situation," said Mr. J. Banker, building inspector of Glendale, to a representative of The Glendale Evening News. "This improvement is not very great but it is an improvement. While there is an actual gain in the value of the buildings for which permits have been granted thus far in December, there is also much increase of confidence all round and a promise of greater activity when the new year opens.

"Up to Dec. 10 the total value of the building permits was $5830. Last year the permits up to the same date amounted to $4275. Two substantial dwellings are to be erected thus far this month and the balance of the permits are for additions, sleeping porches and repairs. Following are the permits:

"Manjiro Katsuke is having erected for himself a small dwelling, at 324 Chestnut street, at a cost of $100. The contractor is J. Witham.

H. R. Wolfe is himself erecting and superintending the building of an addition to his present dwelling at 1540 Ivy street, at a cost of $30.

L. A. Burson is having an addition built to his house at 771 S. Louise, at a cost of $350, by George Peters.

F. W. Chambers is having erected at 860 S. Glendale avenue, a dwelling house, at a cost of $3,000. The contractor is Ralph Brown.

R. L. Taylor is himself building a dwelling house at 1318 W. Ninth St., at a cost of $2000.

V. R. Abarta is erecting a sleeping porch at his residence, 418 Kenwood, at a cost of $50.

E. Shaw is having repairs made on his house at 443 S. Glendale avenue, at a cost of $300. W. E. Boyd is the contractor.

DEATH OF MRS. POSTE

Mrs. Poste, of Los Angeles, mother of Mrs. F. O. Moore of the Store of a Million Articles, and also of Mr. Fred Poste, of the cigar stand at 614 Broadway, died at her home Friday, after a brief illness. Mrs. Poste was in Glendale about a week ago, on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Moore. At that time she was in excellent health. Immediately after returning to Los Angeles, however, she was taken ill with pneumonia. She was 83 years of age and came to Southern California about 15 years ago. The funeral took place this morning at 10 o'clock, from the Los Angeles residence. Interment was at Forest Lawn.

REMARKABLE BANANA TREE

Harry Kirkby, janitor of the Sixth Street school, who is something of a gardener and rancher, has just been compelled to cut down on his own ground at 1212 W. Seventh street, a fine banana tree. This tree had attained a growth seldom equaled in this part of the country. Its dimensions were 33 feet in height and 31 inches in diameter. More remarkable still is the fact that the tree, probably by reason of its vigorous growth, brought almost to maturity a large bunch of bananas. There is not enough heat at nights in Southern California to bring bananas to maturity. The tree is a regular tropical growth and never brings forth ripe fruit in this latitude. The trunk of the tree, with its crown of feathery fronds and its large cluster of bananas, can be seen in the Chamber of Commerce.

DEATH OF WEBSTER KURTZ

Webster Days Kurtz, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Kurtz, 1001 Melrose avenue, died Friday night, after a brief illness. The boy was almost eight years of age. He was born in Pennsylvania. He came home at noon Wednesday last with a severe cold. This immediately developed into pneumonia, the congestion attacking both lungs. This is the third child the Kurtz family has lost within 16 months. Webster is survived by his brother Harold, aged 10, and his sister Ellen, aged 4. The funeral services are in charge of the Pulliam Undertaking company. Services will be conducted in the Pulliam chapel, Tuesday, 2:30 p. m., by the Rev. Julius Soper of Casa Verdugo. The sudden death of this lovable little boy has left a sorrowing circle of classmates in his room at the Central Avenue school, his class in the Christian Church and his many playmates.

OUTLOOK IN EUROPE

While millions of people all over the world are earnestly desiring, praying and working for peace the war drama in Europe continues to unfold greater possibilities of slaughter. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's recent speech in the German reichstag contained nothing that could be construed in any way as indicating that the Central Powers are contemplating a move for peace. The socialists of Germany are as anxious as the most pronounced member of the Prussian military oligarchy for the continuance of the war and little signs of desire for cessation of the contest come for any other quarters in that imperial country.

Turning to the Allies there is equally no sign of a desire for peace. On the contrary the declarations of responsible leaders, both in France and Britain, indicate a renewed determination to hold to the arbitrament of the sword. War-torn Europe apparently is to see still further sacrifices to the war Moloch that is devouring the homes, the men, women and children of that unfortunate continent.

At the present moment there is great danger that Greece and Roumania will be forced into the conflict. The Allies have a very inadequate force on the borders of Servia and Greece to oppose the strong Germano-Austro-Bulgar armies that are forcing them toward the sea in the direction of Saloniki, and there is every likelihood that more than one sanguinary battle will be fought in that quarter.

Meanwhile the war has had its effect on the half-subdued tribes of the Tripolitan desert. Stirred by reports of what is going on in Europe the tribesmen there are forcing the Italian troops from their outlying stations toward the seacoast and there are likely to be further effects of the fighting in other countries occupied by Mohammedan tribes.

Out of all this maelstrom of war and rumors of war may come, it is to be hoped, a general movement of the nations for keeping the peace of the world. In that movement the United States should be able to take the lead and the responsible heads of this nation are already taking such measures as in their wisdom seem fit for giving a proper direction to the policy of this nation.

Proper measures for putting this country in a position to be able to defend its own territory from outside aggression are already under way, and it is more than likely that when exhausted Europe ceases its unnatural warfare this land will be in a position to speak with authority on the subject of peace.

It is almost certain that out of the war will arise a combination of powers that will set its face with determination in the direction of enforcing and commanding peace. Already the wisest minds in the neutral countries are working on this problem, which is by no means so easy as it may appear. In this world under present conditions nothing is more certain than that strong nations, filled with the spirit of conquest and aggression, will spurn and scorn the suggestions of peace.

VALUE OF THE POULTRY SHOW

Ancient literature is full of the evidence that the old world was merciful to animals. While countless thousands of animals were slaughtered for food then as now, and perhaps a few thousands yearly here and there for sacrifices, the ancient world was just as full of the lesson of kindliness to the lower animals as is our present age. "Am not I thine ass?" said Balaam's beast of the road to the prophet, when that individual struck the patient creature, and went on to say that he had served the prophet faithfully and did not deserve a beating. Evidently the prophet was not more amazed at the ass speaking than the ass was at the prophet losing his temper and beating him.

God reminded Jonah when that misguided individual wanted to destroy Nineveh that the city had not only many human beings in it but also "much cattle." In similar manner the "fowls of the air" have been familiar objects of good treatment. "The sparrow that falleth to the ground," the pet lamb of Nathan's parable—all show that the people of the Bible narrative had pets and poultry and cats and other familiar creatures that we see at the shows.

It is, therefore, only right and proper that modern people should not lose the cult of the ancients that taught that it was well to have domestic animals and to treat them well and to develop their good qualities. No man, woman or child who is kind to animals is ever likely to fall into the criminal class. The love of animals is a distinguishing trait of a kindly nature.

Besides the devotion to some such occupation as poultry, rabbit, pigeon or cat breeding is likely to keep people out of mischief. It may be, as one of the judges at the Glendale Poultry Show said, that poultry breeding is an expensive taste for an amateur; yet it is not all expense and it is less expensive than some of the tastes in which people who have no such fad so often indulge.

Glendale's Poultry and Pet Stock Show has been the means of bringing out to public notice a great many excellent breeders. Each makes a specialty of some class of poultry or other; some breed of rabbit or stock of pigeon. All are in friendly competition and there is room for all in the commercial arena also. There is just as great a demand for eggs and chickens as will always make it possible for all breeders to make a living at the business by making it a business.

Glendale is to be congratulated on having so large, so active and so well organized a poultry asociation in its midst. It is an excellent advertisement for the city and the active and expert officials who engineered the show are deserving of all credit.

Yuan Shi Kai is about to learn the full meaning of the Shakespearean proverb, "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown." Nothing less than the crown of China would satisfy Yuan. Now the Japs are after him with a reminder that even if he does climb the throne it will only be with their gracious permission. To be a king is great sport without doubt; but it is not so much fun when a little brown man opposite you is always reminding you that he is your master.

PRECEDENT ADHERED TO

"Will you marry me?"

The fair lady at the man's side drew away with a movement that seemed almost prudish. Her breath came and went in little explosive jerks. She tried to speak, but no sound came from her lips. She tried once more, and then, with sweet tremulousness, she gave her answer.

"I will marry you if you get papa's consent," she said. "I never marry without that."—New York Times.

PARKERETTES

PERSONAL, POLITICAL, POETICAL, PUNGENT, PERSUASIVE, PROFITABLE

By Samuel Parker

It will hardly be insisted by any one that the enterprising reporters and editors broke in on the notables so soon to be wedded and robbed them of that privacy and delicacy of such an important event without their consent. For months when these have "taken snuff" all snobdom has "sneezed." They seem to like it. More's the pity.

The "social clubs" of Los Angeles seem to be but little else than well organized methods for obtaining and drinking unlimited liquor under all the guzzling methods of a saloon with no benefits from license received. The saloon keepers are intent on stamping out this cheap competition and many of the social clubs will be driven out.

It seems incredible that naturalized citizens from any foreign country exercising citizenship here, perhaps for many years, and "released" by solemn oath from allegiance to the home land, should manifest such frenzied interest in the war zones over yonder. It is well that we are at peace. The situation embarrasses the president and congress.

It is in range of a great probability that the San Diego fair for next year will be as successful as was the north-end concern just closed. One thing sure, it is more than ever a Los Angeles fair and everybody is coming and they may not route over any northern route.

A city paper exploits the complimentary comments of a high school gent on the style of dress worn by a high school girl, "How nice the dress, how nice the wearer." Pity the editor did not hear the girl's comment on the boy ahead of her. It ran thusly: "Is that the style of my future great, bent in half circle, his too short coat stretched tight across and his arms run into his pants' pockets up to his elbows, not for me."

Oh, aren't you very very glad she's heard the Christmas call, and though but little time she's had, she's going to dress a doll, and there is now a great demand, they're wanting dolls galore, they're needing dolls to beat the band to feed the starving poor. Well later on (you may be guessing), more than a doll she may be dressing.

We gladly notice some newspapers and periodicals are "patting themselves on the back," some for never having published liquor advertisements, others for ceasing to do so under pressure of public opinion. It hurts the liquor traffic greatly to be ruled out of this line of business so sought by others. It wounds its pride and stamps it as non-respectable.

At a state convention of a numerous religious body of young people some years ago the following resolution was adopted: "Reolved that we will banish from our libraries and center tables all such papers and periodicals as insult our temperance principles by parading liquor advertisements before our children, the insult being carried often to our national flag for ornament and often to pictures of esteemed men and women." (The author of this resolution now lives in California.)

The destruction, attempted or actual, of manufacturing establishments engaged in making war material and the disabling of the machinery of the Minnesota, now helplessly wallowing in the trough of the sea, invests the war conditions with a new element of danger not free from anxiety for president and congress.

It would have been an easy matter to have kept it all out of the papers and at the proper time held a quiet wedding and settled down. His official position gives him no warrant for the spectacular, and it must be admitted they have been a little giddy. Is it because the oldest are always the biggest ——? How thankful. It will soon be over.

LITTLELANDS

A special Christian Endeavor service was held in the Baptist church last Sunday which occupied the morning and evening services, with a special service in the afternoon. Mr. Ray Horton, superintendent of the county Endeavor work, had charge of the program, and was ably assisted by several young men and women associated with him in the work. Different departments of Endeavor interests were discussed by those in charge of the work. The Sunland orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Maygrove, ab'y assisted with the music of the meeting, and a piccolo solo by Miss Dorothy Maygrove was enjoyed by all. At noon luncheon was served by the local Endeavor members to the visiting delegates, and also supper preceding the evening service. The meetings were well attended and much enthusiasm was aroused in the services. The excellent work of the Endeavor society is a part of the work of the young people in every community and is worthy in its aims.

The Pigeon club had a pleasant meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson on Pine street last Monday evening. A number of interesting topics were discussed and Mr. Paul, president of the club, gave some important information from his personal experience in the work. Light refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be held the first Monday evening in January at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malona of Stephens way.

Bee Club

The Bee club was fully organized last Saturday afternoon. The following officers were unanimously elected: President, Mrs. Mary Dean; secretary, Mrs. Heald; treasurer, Mrs. Woodruff. The officers constitute the executive committee. The next meeting will be held next Saturday afternoon when it is expected that Mr. Charles Metcalf, who resides in the valley, will give a talk from his own experience.

Mrs. Dean had a personal talk with Mr. Metcalf and he expressed himself as willing to come at any time and to help in any way by practical demonstration the members of the club. He is a practical bee man and can give many points not to be found in books. State Secretary Schaffner of the Bee association, who was booked for last Saturday afternoon, for some reason failed to appear. The club starts with seventeen charter members and as stated the next meeting will be held next Saturday afternoon. There will be no more meetings thereafter till the holidays are past, when it is probable that the meetings will be held monthly.

During a personal interview with Mrs. John S. McGroarty your correspondent learned that Mr. McGroarty and his family expect to spend the greater part of the winter and next year till July at their mountain cabin just off of Manzanita drive where they will take a much-needed rest and where Mr. McGroarty will recuperate after his onerous duties connected with the Mission play of which he has had the entire management this year. The play will not be exhibited abroad next year as the papers have stated, but next August the entire ensemble will be gathered together and completely rehabilitated both as regards costumes and scenery, after which they expect to tour the United States. They will not go abroad until after the war is ended.

The play has been a success this year financially as well as from an artistic point of view and the author and playwright is sanguine concerning its future prospects.

Barnes Herbal Club

Last Saturday afternoon the committee on medicinal plants called a meeting and proceeded to organize a club under the name of Barnes Herbal club. Dr. Kearney was elected president, Mr. Wieman vice president and Will Weeks secretary-treasurer. A meeting of the club was called Tuesday night after the town meeting, at which time it was decided to send to Dr. Barnes for calendula seed sufficient to plant one acre.

Many of the members expressed their intention to experiment with this plant first and if it is successful then to try others.

Mr. George I. Maxwell of Cedar street had the misfortune to badly cut his face across the right side of the nose last Monday afternoon. While he was busy at work, by some mishap the axe blade flew up and struck him on the face with the above result. Dr. Kearney rendered first aid, after which Mr. Maxwell was taken to the receiving hospital.

Homecroft Round Table

At the round table Friday night Mr. F. O. Huff gave a demonstration in grafting of fruit trees that was both instructive and interesting. Mr. Huff seems to thoroughly understand grafting. There was also a stereopticon exhibition of pictures of scenes from Littlelands, garden views from Los Angeles, etc.

Mr. Maxwell spoke of Spanish recipes and the dishes peculiar to the Creole and other Southern classes—how the people had to adapt their cooking to the products of the different localities. He distributed a typewritten recipe from the Land Marks Club Book, Spanish American cookery, the enchiladas, which is his favorite recipe.

Mrs. Tuprect, mother of Mrs. McGroarty, spent the week end from Friday till Monday afternoon with her daughter in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Thomasson of Palm drive was the lucky winner of a first prize in the Pasadena Poultry Show which was held last week. An Ancona cockerel and hen entered by her were adjudged the finest in their class.

Rev. W. N. Wieman is seriously ill. He was taken sick last Sunday and Monday morning was removed to his home at Highland Park, where it is hoped that with the care and attention of his family he will make a speedy recovery.

Rev. Mr. Wornom occupied the pulpit of the Christian Federation in a very acceptable manner last Sunday at both the morning and evening service.

Mrs. B. F. Kearney spent the week end with her friend, Mrs. Catherine McInerney of Union avenue, Los Angeles, last week, returning home Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George C. Buck motored to Los Angeles last Monday and spent the day shopping.

Mrs. Tench of Los Angeles was a Sunday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blumfield.

Mrs. Mary Haflinger, mother of Wm. Haflinger, has returned from a visit to a son in Portland, Ore., and will make her home in the valley.

Mr. C. H. Clark, clerk of the Homecroft club, made a trip to Los Angeles last Monday on business, returning Tuesday evening in time for the town meeting.

Water Commissioners Here Dec. 14

The State Railway Commission will hold a public hearing at Littlelands on December 14th in Bolton Hall at 10:30 a. m. to hear the case of Grace Greer versus the Western Empire Suburban Farms association. The case is against the charges for meters.

secretary instruct Mr. Harrison of such action and also extend thanks to him for the valuable service he has rendered the Chamber in the past and wishes for his speedy recovery to his former good health.

A communication was read from certain county officials stating that steps will be taken to establish an agricultural bureau, which is to be managed by a competent agriculturist. The Glendale Chamber of Commerce is asked to send a representative to a meting to be held in the near future at which this question will be considered. Stephen C. Packer was chosen to represent the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

A vote of thanks was extended to the local poultry breeders for the interest they have taken in conducting such a successful show in Glendale.

The question of making Verdugo Park still more attractive and desirable as a picnic resort was discussed. W. B. Kirk, Henry Henning and W. B. Hartmann were appointed as a committee to devise ways and means to have the park made more suitable as a picnic resort.

The question of the Chamber's finances was discussed at length. W. E. Hewitt, J. N. McGillis and A. M. Brooks were appointed a committee to formulate plans by which a sufficient amount of money may be procured to place the Chamber on a substantial financial basis.

P. T. A. BAZAAR

About two hundred visited the Parent-Teacher association bazaar of the Pacific Avenue school, Friday evening last, and those who did not attend missed a double treat. First of all daintily pretty articles as well as the more substantial ones were sold for sums most reasonable, and then the musical program by the children was well worth while.

A splendid orchestra of boys and girls from the Fifth and Sixth grades of Avenue 35 school, Los Angeles, gave excellent numbers.

The affair proved most delightful, every article was sold, and the school realizing between fifty and sixty dollars.

Dr. Raymond Ludden, who has been located at 414 S. Brand boulevard during the past year, has moved his office and residence to 345 S. Orange street, corner of Broadway. 78tf

LIFE AT GLENDALE HIGH

The cops are handing out arrests
For every naughty deed;
If you match coins, or poker play
They'll give you what you need.
The Seniors tried to put an edge
Upon their sluggish wits,
They're trying hard
To can the bard
Who knocks them into fits.

McGillis taught the Spanish class—
Hacido muy bueno.
The scrubs were told of Robin bold,
It's true for all that they know.
The cafeteria is now
A favorite place for filling
That well-known sack
Afore the back,
Now isn't that just killing?

We must confess, we missed our guess
About that hosiery white;
'Twill be in style a little while,
See Sam—you'll know I'm right.
No more announcements from the floor,
Our little Georgie said.
Mag. wants her name
In rhymes for fame;
And Europe's bathed in red.

Miss Muller's back from an attack
Of silent laryngitis,
Which is a cold, so we are told,
With powers strong to fight us.
The farm girls have some rosary,
Their radishes are up,
A garden green
Will soon be seen,
With soup 'twill fill your cup.

The grippe bug got us in his clasp,
We had in bed to be—
Just taking dope, and losing hope,
And sipping broth and tea.
'Tis said the "B and R" will be
Spectator resurrected.
Monrovia's five
Will make a dive
To show it's well perfected.

The Senior Stylus staff, they say,
Is hitting on all eight.*
The Juniors blundered t'other day,
The Seniors came in late.
Sir Carlton West should write a book,
"Essentials of Flirtation."
We'd give a dime
For one more rhyme,
Which ends the week's oration.

A LONG TRIP

Armed with a message for the president of the United States, three women have traveled 5,000 miles by automobile, in an effort to further the cause of equal suffrage. A petition signed by half a million women at the San Francisco Exposition was entrusted to their care and on the trip across country enough additional signatures were obtained to swell the total to what is probably the longest list of names ever secured on a petition of this kind..

The ladies, one from Oregon and two from Rhode Island, after looking over the motor cars offered in San Francisco, bought a Model 83 Overland, believing that they could secure the greatest amount of service from the car, as well as knowing they could receive attention from an unlimited number of Overland dealers enroute.

Miss M. A. Kindberg acted as driver, Miss Ingeberg Kindstedt as mechanician and Mrs. Sara Bard Field as utility driver and helper.

During the trip the car had an average gasoline mileage of sixteen miles per gallon, using one quart of oil in the first 280 miles, and averaging 100 miles to the quart, on the rough stretches. The highest speed attained by the lady driver was fifty-two miles per hour, and then she admitted she was going some.

Through the desert the trip was uneventful, except for the fact that water was scarce, and after trying to buy, or even beg water at one particular place, they were refused and finding the radiator barely half full, thought their troubles would commence, but true to the appointments en route, they undertook the drive without the needed water and drove 156 miles, with the supply half enough, and the motor, which is the highest improved of its type, carried them fine and did not overheat as was feared.

One blinding snowstorm was encountered from Laramie to Cheyenne, the first of the season. After debating awhile as to whether or not to attempt the drive, they started out and met three other motor parties returning to town. These people advised against the trip, telling them they surely would be lost, but that "grit" necessary in a case like that asserted itself and they went through the storm to the next town, glad of the trip for the novelty, as well as testing their mount to its utmost.

Crossing the desert at one time they were lost and used a compass to set them right and traveled by that for ninety-five miles before finding a place to get proper directions.

Mrs. Field, the speaker of the trip, is carrying a message to the president of the United States from the women voters of the West, and in this trip, as well as riding, they have been stopping at all the cities along the way, speaking on the equal rights of women and have used their car as a platform in several places. The message to the president asks his support for an amendment to the national constitution giving woman the ballot.

Miss Kindberg was asked how she liked her car and said with a snap that she's like to see any other car do a bit better or half as well.
